Report Highlights:

The Government of India's (GOI) Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI) postponed additional labeling requirements for pre-packaged foods, edible oils, and fats, until December 31, 2015.

Executive Summary:

Previously, FSSAI notified that it would enforce additional labeling requirements for pre-packaged food, edible oils, and fats as of December 6, 2013. However, the enforcement date was never implemented and the regulation was essentially dormant for over one year. In December, FSSAI recently announced that it would postpone the date of implementation to December 31, 2015.

General Information:

DISCLAIMER: The information contained in this report was retrieved from FSSAI's website <http://www.fssai.gov.in/>. The Office of Agricultural Affairs and/or the U.S. Government makes no claim of accuracy or authenticity.

Introduction:

On December 17, 2014, FSSAI issued a notification to postpone the enforcement date for additional labeling requirements for pre-packaged food, edible oils, and fats until December 31, 2015. Previously, FSSAI had announced the enforcement date as December 6, 2013. However, this enforcement date was never actually enforced. After a year of no movement or additional clarity, FSSAI announced it would further postpone the date of implementation until December 31, 2015.

Background:

On July 9, 2013, FSSAI published the Food Safety and Standards (Food Products and Food Additives) Regulations, 2013, and Food Safety and Standards (Packaging and Labeling) Regulations, 2013. Both amendments were published under the same notification number: No. P.15014/2011-PFA/FSSAI.

On August 23, 2013, FSSAI published an advisory which provided food Business operators (FBOs) with an extension until December 6, 2013 to comply with Notification No. P.15014/2011-PFA/FSSAI. However, the advisory did not specifically indicate whether the extension applied to Food Product Standards and Food Additives, 2013, or the Packaging and Labeling Regulations, 2013.

On September 5, 2013, FSSAI issued an additional advisory which clarified that the December 6, 2013 extension applies to the Packaging and Labeling Regulation, 2013, and not to the Food Product Standards and Additives, 2013.

The present notification and the background documents are attached at the end of this report and can also be accessed on FSSAI website at <http://www.fssai.gov.in/>
