Report Highlights:

The Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI) extended the deadline to obtain a food business operator (FBO) license to August 4, 2014. The Indian media reported that the National Restaurants Association of India (NRAI) requested an extension since FBO licenses were not being issued on a timely basis.

Executive Summary:

The Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI) issued a statutory advisory extending the deadline to obtain a food business operator (FBO) license to August 4, 2014. The previous deadline was February 4, 2014. The Indian media reported that the National Restaurants Association of India (NRAI) requested an extension since FBO licenses were not being issued on a timely basis. Reportedly, vendors were concerned that even by applying before the deadline, without a FBO license they may be forced to close operations. As of February 4, 2014, FSSAI issued 481,964 FBO licenses and recorded 1,910,160 FBO registrations.

General Information:

Disclaimer: This summary is based on a cursory review of the subject announcement and, therefore, should not under any circumstances be viewed as a definitive reading of the regulation in question, or of its implications for U.S. agricultural trade interests.

The Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI) issued a statutory advisory extending the deadline to obtain a food business operator (FBO) license to August 4, 2014. The previous deadline was February 4, 2014. The Indian media reported that the National Restaurants Association of India (NRAI) requested an extension since FBO licenses were not being issued on a timely basis. Reportedly, vendors were concerned that even by applying before the deadline, without a FBO license they may be forced to close operations. Others noted that the process was confusing, and there were no clear application instructions. Allegedly, FSSAI had plans to better streamline the process, but only recently offered an online application in January 2014, approximately 1.5 years after the original FBO licensing and registration deadline of August 4, 2012. As of February 4, 2014, FSSAI issued 481,964 FBO licenses and recorded 1,910,160 FBO registrations.

According to the Food Safety and Standards \(Licensing and Registration\) Regulations, 2011 (see chapter 2, clause 2.1), a food business operator is required to obtain a FSSAI license. Schedule I of the Food Safety and Standards (Licensing and Registration) Regulations, 2011 provides a list of food businesses that need to apply to FSSAI. For food businesses not covered under Schedule 1, a license may be granted by a state or union territory licensing authority.
